NALSAROVAR BIRD SANCTUARY

Things to do- Boat ride, interpretation centre, Local food

The nalsarovar lake is in a lowest-lying area between central gujarat and the east saurashtra. It represents a sea link that once existed between the gulf of khambhat and little rann. It declared as a bird sanctuary in 1969 and is a ramsar site since 24th September 2012. Spread in the area of 120.80 sq-km is a serene swamp land with shallow waters conataining 36 small islands and is well known for vibrant birds migrating from siberia. It docks over 250 species of wetland birds that includes four species of bitterns, crakes, grebes, purple moorhen, pelicans, lesser and greater flamingos, white storks, and herons. Also one can experience the local Kathiyawadi food provided by the local community.
